Announcements and Communications:

The Grand President, Darleen Carpenter's letter was read. She has 3 months left of her term. She is planning a great GPAM. She outlines some of the events that are being planned. She was disappointed that her legislation to revise and modernize the books of the order was rejected.

The legislation for this year is almost completed. It will be sent to all Parlors and there will be a Zoom meeting held on May 31 for discussion. All delegates and voters attending GPAM are encouraged to join the Zoom meeting. The Community Event Contest is being judged.

The Grand office assistant's memorandum was referred to. Of note is the change of email for two PGP's.

The candidates for Grand Officier's Letters were read.

We received several invitations for events at other Parlors including The Grand President's Homecoming.

Thank you to Frieda Clayton and Cyndi Barclay for the refreshments. May refreshment committee is Lihda Thornquist Stumpf and Anne Renacker. Since it is the Grand President's visit and a dinner is planned before the meeting they will provide dessert.

Birthdays: April birthday girls are Frieda Clayton, Madilyn Melo, and Cynthia Wuoltee. Happy Birthday was sung accompanied by Organist Karen Horne.

Standing Committees:

Publicity: Susan Collins proposed that we accept the invitation from Veterans Hall to rent a table during their Breakfast. Discussion was held and it was decided to do it on June 7.

Scholarship: The Committee has received 12 applications. They will meet on May 6, 1 P.M. to choose the winners of the Parlor's two scholarships.

Lapsation: Members in arrears if they have not paid their dues by now. A Letter will be sent out informing the 8 members who are in arrears. They will be suspended before June 30 to save the parlor from having to pay Per Capita on them.

Membership: Community members who took applications at our March event or otherwise have applications should be contacted.

Civic Participation. Anne Reniker reported on the Hands Off Protest that took place in downtown Fort Bragg. 1000 people were on the streets.

Veterans: Frieda Clayton reminded members that there is a Veterans breakfast on the first Saturday of the month.

Circle of Concern: Cora Stone lost her sister. Karen Lynn has been in the Hospital. She is home now.

A vote was taken and Karen Del Carlo's membership application was accepted. There will be an initiation in June.
